SWOX products combine modern UV filters and natural, non-allergenic ingredients to offer the best protection for outdoor athletes like you.

We are a group of avid surfers, skiers and snowboarders. On a trip to the West Coast of Australia in 2009, we learned the hard way that most sunscreen products are not made for extreme conditions. We could not rely on them to protect our skin from damage and ageing. We decided to create a sunscreen specifically designed to give surfers, snowboarders and outdoor athletes the protection they need.

Today, SWOX sun protection is produced to the highest quality standards in Germany, Switzerland or Portugal and our products are trusted by world champions and pro athletes across the globe.

It has always been our mission to make sun protection and skin care most natural and sustainable as possible.

A major part of the SWOX mission is to act sustainably as a corporation. At the moment this includes materials and technologies used in our product line, our ingredients, production and supply chain.

Environmental responsibility doesn't happen over night, it is work in progress. Work, which we think is crucial for the future of generations to come and our planet.

SWOX IMPACT is our way of showing you what you can do. Every. Single. Day. Providing you with solutions, showing you success stories of our friends and athletes, educating you about the latest research and thus connecting the dots within our community.
